MOSTLY GHOST STORIES (AND OTHER STUFF TOO)

My Halloween Story

Friday, October 31 (Halloween)

Today was Halloween, and honestly, I don't know why everyone gets so excited about it. I mean, it's just walking around in the dark begging strangers for candy. I didn't even want to dress up this year, but my mom said I had to because it's a tradition. She made me wear this boring ghost costume out of a bedsheet. Not just any sheet, one with flowers.

I rather looked like a piece of grandmas living room instead of looking scary. When I finally went outside, I immediately regretted it. There were little kids running around and teenagers throwing eggs at people. I almost got hit by one but I dodged it. (All those hours playing video games finally paid off.)

After like an hour, my candy bag was pretty full, so I decided to go home. But at home, my mom took half of the candy I worked hard for because she said too much sugar isn't healthy.

The funny part was that later that evening I saw my mom sneaking into the kitchen eating my chocolate bars. Next year, I'm gonna stay home and eat candy I actually get to keep.

A spooky school night

October 31st 19:26

On Halloween evening Emma and I were walking to the annual Halloween party at our school. At the time we did not know that something terrifying would happen.

21:38

During the party we decided to go to the restroom to touch up our makeup. Emma was touching up her witch makeup while I was drawing on my whiskers. Suddenly Emma had a crazy idea. She wanted to wait until the school was closed to hide in the restroom and sleep at school. At first, I was sceptical but then I realised that it could be fun and I told her I was in. Then we started to discuss where we wanted to sleep.

23:00

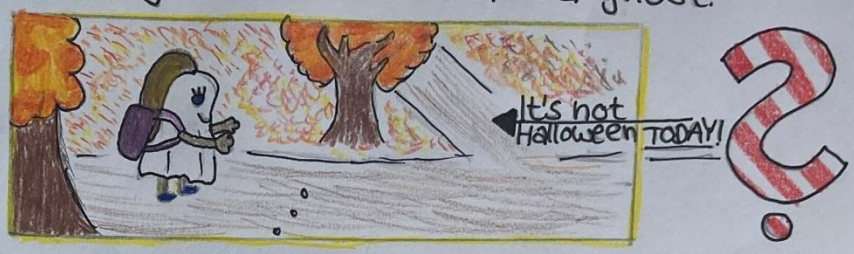
When we saw that nobody was at school anymore, we decided to walk around the school to get to the sports hall where we were going to sleep. On the way we started to hear spooky sounds in the halls and got scared. Just as we arrived to the sports hall a ghost jumped out of nowhere. My heart started racing and in the blink of an eye I found myself running out of the building with Emma by my side.

We decided to never set foot in school alone again.

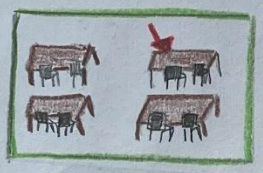
THE HALLOWEEN MISTAKE

October, 30th

On Thursday, the 30th of October, something special happened. I went to school and I saw a girl who was wearing speciae clothes like a ghost.



I was a little bit confused but I went to my classroom. But later, I realized that this girl is in my class.



Everyone was looking at her and her costume.

When she sat down, everyone was chuckling and whispering. The girl looked sad.

I went to the girl and tried to calm her down.

... In the afternoon we met and went to the cemetery. She showed me the grave and we talked about her grandmother.

She began to smile! We looked at each other and she was happy. Her grandma would be proud of her!
